

www.dcsosd.org
619.398.2441

“The Future of Sign Languages”

Sign languages have existed most likely as long as spoken languages, but will they survive into the future? In the age of the implant and the genome, what purpose can sign languages serve in the new century? This talk looks at sign languages around the world and what they tell us about the present and the future.

Celebrating the International Day of Sign Languages

Presenter: Carol Padden, Ph.D.
Professor of Communication
Faculty Affiliate, Education Studies,
Human Development, Critical
Gender Studies

When: Saturday, October 18, 2008

Time: 7:00 - 8:30 pm

Facility: Hojel Hall of the Americas Auditorium
University of California San Diego
10111 North Torrey Pines Road
La Jolla, CA

Tickets: $25.00 (General Admission)
$15.00 (Students with I.D.)

Tickets available online at <http://store.dcsosd.org> or stop by Deaf Community Services at 3930 Fourth Avenue, Suite 300
San Diego, CA 92103

Reception to follow

Please contact us if you need other accommodations at info@dcsosd.org

0.15 RID CEUs, Professional Studies, are offered through The Language Door, an approved RID CMP & ACET Sponsor.

Refund Policy:

Registration cancellation
must be received in writing
Prior to or on 9/30/08, refund
minus $5 administrative fee
After 9/30/08, no refund